Professional Experience

E-Qbank Development, Marketing, and Management Project

Self-Initiated Project | [Initiated in September 2024]

- Designed and developed high-quality educational question banks tailored to wide variety of medical topics from medicine, surgery, paediatrics, & gynaecology.
- Strategically priced the product above market norms, emphasizing superior content and unique features, achieving significant customer satisfaction and engagement.
- Successfully marketed the product to a targeted audience, attracting a notable number of buyers and establishing a reputable brand within the market.
- Gained hands-on experience in product development, customer relations, and digital marketing strategies.
- Note: This was a localized project targeted at my college audience. Plans are underway to expand its reach to a broader audience from other schools in upcoming courses.
